

When surface is everything

To all our customers, present as well as future, surface is everything. Our task will always be to support you with our know-how and expertise.

In-house production

As one of the very few suppliers in the surface treatment business, we have a 100% in-house production of our lines.

With a production of more than 100 plants a year and close to 4800 lines installed worldwide, we are one of the world leading producers of industrial surface treatment solutions.

Flexibility and speed

Our plants are designed as a modular system which offers unique flexibility when it comes to space and footprint.

By way of compelling design and excellent planning, we easily meet the requirements presented to us – including a very fast lead time.

At our headquarters in Denmark we also have all the functions under one roof, making the response time and decision-making process flexible and short.

From manual lines to turnkey solutions

AABO-IDEAL designs a wide range of engineered solutions. We develop, plan, produce, deliver and install turnkey solutions from components across smaller manual lines to complete large-scale lines.

We cover all industries – almost

Over time AABO-IDEAL has had the privilege to work with and supply to almost all industries.

Each industry has their own set of operational and even legislative requirements that need to be met. Therefore, we are very focused on the continuous education of our service engineers and technical staff and aim to provide the best professional support.

We keep updated and constantly develop our products in order to offer you the very best solutions regardless of industry and location.

Industrial surface treatment systems at their very best

AABO  IDEAL

We are...

...a company based in Denmark with more than six decades of experience in manufacturing industrial solutions for surface treatment.

We are proud to say that our workforce consists of the best expertise and craftsmanship in the business, and that a large number of our employees has been with us for a very long time.

Our company values are quite similar to family core values: treat each other with respect, take care of each other and always do your very best.

We believe the high level of quality in our products is rooted in these values along with the safe and evolving work environment at AABO-IDEAL.

Because of all the above and the fact that we work like a tight-knit family, AABO-IDEAL is able to design and produce high quality finishing systems for surface treatment – and to supply them worldwide.

A global partner with local presence

AABO-IDEAL is represented worldwide in more than 30 different countries.

Our very knowledgeable sales team will guide and help you in the important phase of deciding on the correct system.

We have trained expert installation teams that ensure fast, on time and reliable installations. Your operators will be instructed and trained in the running and maintenance of the system, making sure you have an efficient and well-working line for many years to come.

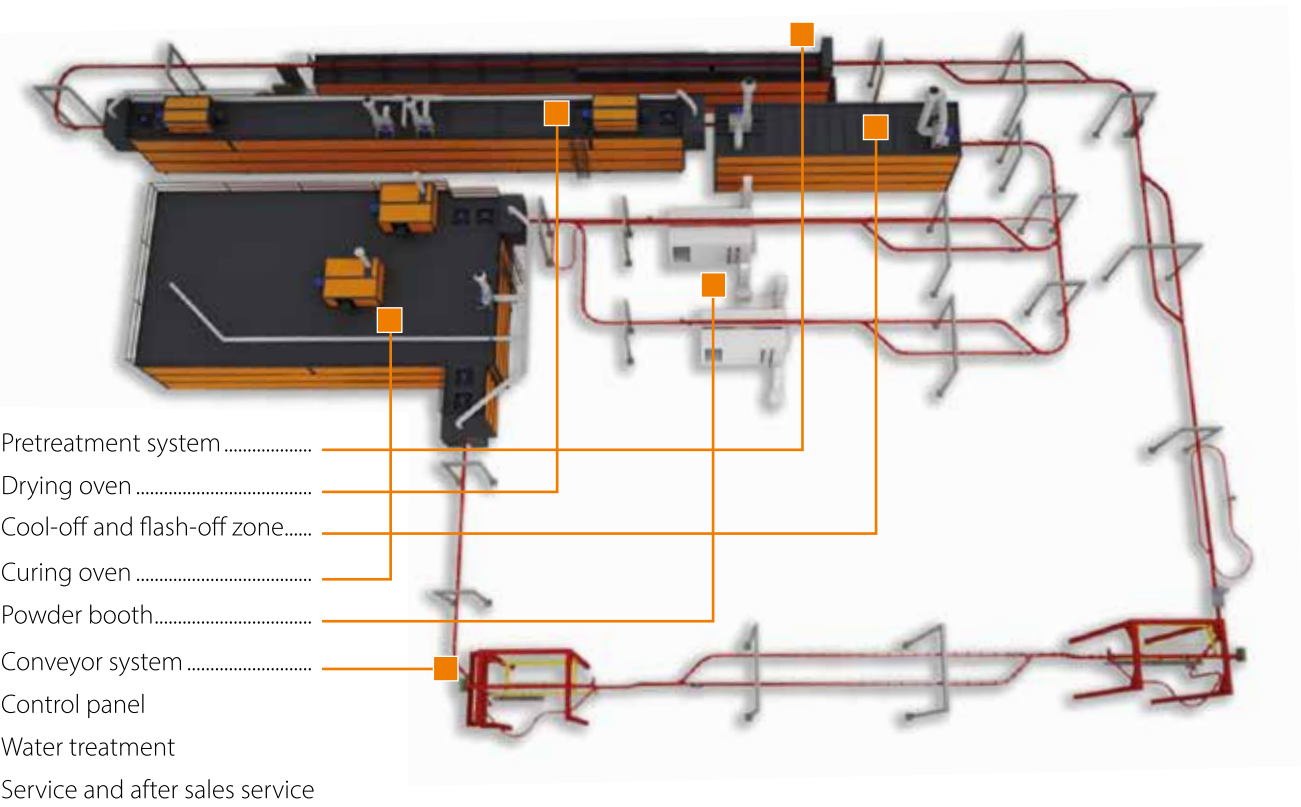

Virtually everything is possible

Having industrial finishing systems as our expertise for more than 60 years makes AABO-IDEAL a key player in the market.

We supply high quality customized solutions. Our lines include the latest technology ensuring a high performing and environmentally friendly operation.
